About the Author

Randy Johnson is a widely published authority on the Appalachian outdoors. He's the author of the bestselling guidebooks Hiking North Carolina and Hiking the Blue Ridge Parkway, among others. Articles and photos by this award-winning photojournalist have for decades brought the Appalachians to readers of national magazines, newspapers, and major outdoor Web sites. As editor of the country's most-award-winning airline magazine, he often focused on accessible adventure. A trail designer and builder, Randy was the founding wilderness manager at Grandfather Mountain and helped ensure the preservation of this significant North Carolina summit, as a UN-designated biosphere reserve, and now a state park. He's a longtime resident of the North Carolina mountains and lives in Banner Elk. Visit www.randyjohnsonbooks.com to check out his television and radio appearances, videos, publications and more.

Mark Guerrero:

As a university student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library or make summary for some book, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's internal or real their hobby. They just do what the professor want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading seriously. Any students feel that reading is not important, boring and also can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Best Easy Day Hikes Great Smoky Mountains National Park (Best Easy Day Hikes Series) can make you really feel more interested to read.
